Customers worry Andover Water District will dry up if more opt for private wells

By ALISON ALOISIO

Andover Water District users last week voted to have district directors "pursue vigorously" the purchase of John Fox's property for use as a water source.

It will be another in a series of attempts to find a well site to provide water for the 130 users.

Several years ago the district was directed by the federal Environmental Protection Agency to either install filtration at the current Stony Brook source or set up a new water system, to comply with the Safe Drinking Water Act. The district is opting for a new system with a well as the source.

The district has been operating under the threat of an EPA fine for not having met the compliance deadline of June 1993. District directors met May 24 with Public Utilities Commission representatives and a public advocate to discuss an action plan.

"If Fox goes through, the rates could remain the same through the life of the district," director Fred Emerson told the 60 people attending the annual district meeting.

That would be some relief to the customers, who are currently paying rates that doubled several years ago, in anticipation of the cost of a new system set-up.

Some of the money has to go to paying off engineering bills in-

Telstar High School set to graduate 57

By ALISON ALOISIO

Fifty-seven students are scheduled to graduate Friday evening at Telstar High School's 28th Commencement Exercises.

Graduation will follow a busy week of activities for the seniors.

Senior Awards Night was scheduled for last night (Tuesday), while a Senior Class Day and Banquet will take place today (Wednesday) at the Balsams Hotel in New Hampshire.

Baccalaureate will be Thursday evening at 7 p.m. Titled "A Coming Together: Our Memories are Forever," it will include readings by seniors, poems and songs, as well as a Message to Graduates from teacher Charles Raymond.

Lydia Grover and Ian Richardson share the valedictorian's honor for the Class of 1996.

Both will speak at Friday's 7:30 p.m. graduation ceremony. They will be joined by third honors student Justin Hutchins.

Rebecca Chandler and Jessica Coolidge will welcome the families and friends of the seniors.

"Reflections" will be offered by Sadie Gallant and Katie Groves.

The class will sing the Beatles' song, "With a Little Help from My Friends," accompanied by classmate Andy Dennis on guitar.

SAD44 School Board vice-chairman Raymond Harrington will deliver congratulatory remarks on behalf of the board.

Diplomas will be presented by Telstar principal Ted Davis. The farewell will be given by Benjamin Fogg and Daniel Wesley.

A reception in the cafeteria will follow the ceremonies. Busses bearing the graduates will then leave for Project Graduation activities at the Royal Health Club in Gorham, N.H.

The graduates will return to the Jackson-Silver Legion Hall in Locke Mills for breakfast at 8 a.m. on Saturday, before going their separate ways.

NTL is ready to go

The National Training Institute is gearing up for another season in Bethel. Forty-two programs, classes and other learning events are scheduled, running for 14 weeks beginning June 8.

Events will include NTL member professional development classes, graduate student classes and two international scholars' weeks.

The NTL Institute is composed of a group of behavioral science practitioners working to develop solutions for productive change in every facet of personal, organizational and social life.

A number of scholarships to NTL programs are available to SAD44 residents. Scholarship tuitions range from $250 to 50 percent off the normal NTL tuition cost.

Sunrise Seminars are another chance for residents to join the NTL community. The informal presentations convene four mornings a week, 7:15 to 8 a.m., at the Bethel Inn Conference Center Lobby. Although topics vary, they usually focus on the current work of the NTL membership. Weekly schedules are

Bethel elections stack up to be no contests

By MICHAEL DANIELS

For the first time in five years, the Bethel selectmen's race is no race at all this year, and neither are the two other townwide elections.

Two seats are open on the Board of Selectmen, and incumbents Bob Chadbourne and Dutch Dresser are running unopposed for them.

Voters will also pick two assessors and two School Board directors, but, again, voters will have only two choices to fill two slots.

Incumbent assessor Bob Saunders is seeking another three-year term. Incumbent Arlan Jodrey did not file papers for reelection, but John Head did and is on the ballot for the second position.

Incumbent School Director Debra Dohrmann is not seeking reelection.

Fellow incumbent School Director John Brown, who has served on that board for 18 years, also announced earlier this year that he would not seek another term, but he later changed his mind.

Joining Brown on the ballot is newcomer Richard DeCarolis.

Statewide contests

Tuesday is also primary day in Maine, and registered Democrats and Republicans will be selecting their candidates for the U.S. House of Representatives and for the seat of retiring U.S. Sen. William Cohen.

They will also select candidates for county offices and the state Legislature, but neither party is fielding more than a single candidate for any of these positions.

Registered Green and Reform Party voters will also be picking statewide candidates, but there are no names listed on the ballots for either party, so all votes will be

Canoe news is mixed

Bethel board rejects ramp

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Board of Selectmen has turned down the offer by a local volunteer group to construct a canoe ramp at Davis Park.

The motion rejecting the offer cited a conflict with the already established playground at Davis Park, and the fact that after the first year the town would be responsible for the maintenance of the ramp site.

The selectmen also worried that if canoeing were to become popular here, the river could end up crowded and littered, like the Saco. And they were concerned about a public canoe site competing with the private campground planned for across the river.

It took the board three votes at its regular meeting Monday night to come to a decision on the matter. The first two votes ended in stalemates and appeared to leave the ramp in limbo.

On the first vote, John Thurston

Source to Sea Trek celebrates the river

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Paddlers with a purpose will pass through Bethel this weekend, plashing their way along the course of the Androscoggin River -- all the way from its headwaters above Lake Umbagog to the Maine coast, where the river waters join those of the Atlantic Ocean.

The 19-day "Androscoggin River: Source to the Sea Canoe Trek" is intended to celebrate the progress made in recent years in cleaning up the river, and to call attention to the river's value as an economic resource.

To that end, a variety of educational and recreational activities have been planned along the way, including a talk at 10 a.m. Sunday on the river's past and present importance to the Bethel area.

Saturday's journey through Bethel will also be linked to the town's Bicentennial Celebration, with paddlers encouraged to rent by

KEEP THE R.R. CROSSING OPEN

To the Editor:

In response to the Grove Street railroad crossing in Bryant Pond. The crossing was closed last fall when the St. Lawrence & Atlantic Railroad pulled the planks and put up barricades. The planks were not replaced last fall as stated in Ms. Aloisio's article last week. The new planks were put in last Wednesday, May 22 and the barricades taken down. This was done when the railroad was approached by the town manager to have it opened in time for the Memorial Day parade. This route has always been used for the parade as it is a shorter distance to the cemetery which makes it easier for the Legion members and senior veterans and other parade goers when they march to honor their country. People also use it in the summer months when they walk to Sunday services at the Universalist Church. I agree with other citizens of Bryant Pond that the crossing should remain open. I know of no accidents at the crossing. Local people who use it are aware of the potential danger and use caution.

Helvi Cary

Member of Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War

(The crossing planks were replaced recently, not last fall. Town manager Vern Mayfield was paraphrased incorrectly in last week's article.)

DRESSER SEEKS SUPPORT

To the Editor:

Local elections will be held on June 11, with the polls open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. at Crescent Park School. I urge all Bethel voters to vote on election day.

I am running for a second term as selectman and would appreciate your support. In asking for that support it seems only fair to provide a brief report of my work for the past three years. I have participated in nearly all of the regularly scheduled and specially scheduled selectmen's meetings, town meetings and joint meetings of the Board of Selectmen and the Budget Committee. During the joint meetings, town budgets and, recently, sewer budgets have been reviewed and raised for presentation to the voters at the annual Town Meeting.

The past three years have been busy ones for town officials. In addition to the more routine tasks of elected officials, this board has spent considerable time on the Bethel Station Project, on sewer upgrade plans, and, unfortunately, on personnel matters. In addition, this board has recently been working through the lien process to reconcile a substantial backlog of past-due taxes which have needed action for some time.

Through the past three years, I have tried to remind myself regularly of two important things. First, that as a selectman, I am a representative of the people of the town, and that as such, I must always act with their advice and in their best long-term interest. And, second, that I must always apply the most objective reasoning possible to questions at hand and ensure that personal interest plays no role in my decision making. I believe I've been successful in applying those standards to my efforts in our town. With your support, I'll look forward to serving the people of Bethel for another three years.

COLLINS TO REPLACE COHEN

To the Editor:

I am writing as a great admirer of Senator William S. Cohen. I was doing historical research in Canada at the time of his first election to the House of Representatives in 1972, but sent him a letter of congratulations when he won the Second District seat. Since 1974, I have been one of his most enthusiastic supporters. I was very active in the campaign that sent him to the U.S. Senate in 1978 and have assisted every reelection effort since that time. I haven't always agreed with him on every point, but I have always admired and respected his independence, profound intelligence and sound judgment. Having attended a tribute to him on Friday night at the Republican Convention, I am even more aware of what Maine is losing with his retirement.

It is in that connection, speaking as a citizen of Maine and not from any political party position, that I look at the possible successors to Bill Cohen. After much thought, I can say with great certainty that the one who has the greatest potential of gaining a good measure of the respect commanded by Sen. Cohen, both nationally and in the world, is his former editor, Susan Collins. She possesses the intelligence, grace, temperament and judgment to be a great United States senator and would serve Maine well in the state's tradition of having outstanding members serve in the upper chamber of Congress.

I hope all those qualified to vote in the Republican primary will join me and choose the candidate most capable of becoming an outstanding member of the United States Senate. Vote for Susan Collins and keep Margaret Chase Smith's and Bill Cohen's legacy alive.

TOWN OFFICIALS NEED ATTITUDE ADJUSTMENT

To the Editor:

Recently I had the rare and unpleasant experience of dealing with our so-called "town officials."

I was contacted over the telephone by Kathy Koveleski to provide confidential material regarding a former employee. In wanting to assist her, I told her I would find the information and call her when I had received it on the following day.

After my conversation with her I felt I had made an error in judgment agreeing to furnish her with the information without a letter of intent. Because I had never heard of this woman, I felt my feelings were valid.

The following day she proceeded to contact me at home and harass me after I had asked her not to contact me at home, but at the restaurant. I told her I needed a letter of intent before I could furnish her with the information. Her attitude got increasingly hostile, and I had no choice but to hang up.

The story continues, with me calling Madeleine Henley to tell her I would like nothing better than to cooperate with her "assistant," but I found her to be very disrespectful to myself and my employees. Unfortunately, Ms. Henley was not any more pleasant than Ms. Koveleski.

I guess I expected someone to care that a townsman/business owner was being treated so poorly, but I was mistaken. For future reference, if you are looking for assistance and you don't seem to be getting it, try looking at yourself and your attitude. Maybe a Human Interaction lab at NTL would be beneficial.

HELP SOUGHT MAPPING RECREATIONAL RESOURCES

To the Editor:

Forest issues seem to be very big this year. Surrounded as we are by the clearcutting referendum, IF&W's fishing initiative to return cold-water fisheries to healthy populations, the issues of jet skis on lakes, revisions to Maine's Land Use Regulation Commission's Comprehensive Plan that will begin to direct where development will and will not occur in Maine's unorganized lands, various reports evaluating the productivity and health of Maine's commercial forests, and proposals for parks and wilderness reserves, Maine people are offered a confusing array of options and actions -- all gaining speed and headed toward the communities surrounded by our "working forest."

The "working forest" itself is more complex than most people assumed even 50 years ago. While the land is owned mostly by 25 large landowners who support a strong and long tradition of public access and use, they now manage these lands alongside other property owners, the people of Maine who own the ponds, lakes, streams, rivers and wildlife of the state.

In fact, the economics of the forest are also more complex. The value of all wildlife recreation (hunting, fishing, trapping and non-consumptive enjoyment of wildlife) is estimated to be at least $675.7 million, and as much as $1.1 billion, and recreational industry jobs outnumber forest products jobs in Maine.

One larger theme seems to unite all these various efforts, including the work of several large landowners who are documenting valuable resource and recreation features on their lands in an attempt to manage their forests for an array of important values in addition to fiber.

It seems that large landowners, state agencies, communities, conservation organizations and many citizens' groups are circling around a more complex way to view the forest, seeing it for all its potential to create both fiber and recreation jobs as well as maintain the water quality, and plant and animal communities that are vital to our way of life in Maine.

To see the forest's potential clearly involves first knowing what resources we have out there, where they are located, estimating their worth and value in relation to other resources, and then designing a secure future for those resources that will sustain many generations of our grandchildren and animal and plant communities.

Maine Audubon, with its 150-year-long Maine history of education and habitat protection, has also been part of this attempt to view and value Maine's northern forest for all its potential. As part of that effort, we have mapped all the available information on Maine's valuable ecological and recreational features and located five areas where there are intense concentrations of these resources.

One of these areas is near Bethel. On June 11 at 6:30 p.m. in the Bethel Town Office, we will be asking local residents to bring their experience, expertise and advice to help us refine the information we have collected.

Our goal is to secure a healthy future for these valuable areas using tested and successful private landowner and public strategies that employ a variety of management and conservation tools.

We are at the end of our initial research and mapping work and are beginning the work of traveling and listening to those who live closest to these lands and waters. Even though Maine Audubon's maps offer the most complete view of resources in the state, we need your help to refine the location of these resources and suggest appropriate ways their future could be secured.

People who hunt, fish, snowmobile, use trail systems, work in the woods, have camps or businesses in the woods or are concerned with our work are encouraged to attend. If you have questions about Maine Audubon's Northern Forest Project or the Bethel meeting, please contact Sandy Neily at 207-781-2330.

Briefly

Skiing ends, biking starts at SR

NEWRY--Sunday River Ski Resort closed last Tuesday after its second longest ski season (212 days). It was the resort's 16th consecutive record season, with a 7.85 percent increase in business over last year, according to spokesman Ken Beaulieu. Sunday River's mountain bike park opened May 25.

Cut cable cuts phone service

BETHEL--A fiber-optic toll cable was cut by a contractor working on Cross Street last Wednesday morning -- causing a service outage affecting about 4,900 phone customers in the Bethel area, Oxford West Telephone Co. customers could not place or receive long distance calls, according to public affairs manager Dawna Cook. Local calls were not affected. Service was out for approximately three hours.

Teen AIDS hotline available

PORTLAND--The AIDS Project in Portland has announced the recent opening of the Teen AIDS Hotline. Operating between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. every Wednesday, this is an information and referral hotline run by teens specifically for teens. The hotline is staffed by youth from Portland area schools who can relate to the questions and concerns of teen callers. The number is 1-800-851-AIDS.

Camping for children with cancer

ELLSWORTH--The American Cancer Society will once again sponsor Camp Rainbow for young cancer patients and their families. The week-long camp, which runs from June 22-28, provides as nearly normal a camp experience as possible for the children, at no charge to the family. It takes place at the Bangor YMCA's Camp Jordan on Branch Lake in Ellsworth. Nurses are available 24 hours a day, and transportation to Eastern Maine Medical Center is provided if treatment is needed. Typical attendance is 65 to 75 children. For more information call 1-800-464-3102.

Kenetech files for bankruptcy

FRANKLIN COUNTY--The company whose project would bring wind turbine-driven power to Maine has filed for bankruptcy, according to a report in the Portland Press Herald. A lawyer for Kenetech Windpower said the company will try to find another developer to buy the rights to build the $200 million project in Franklin County. Kenetech has had trouble finding a buyer for the power. The plan was to build up to 639 turbines designed to generate up to one-tenth the output of the Maine Yankee nuclear power plant.

N.H. watching clearcutting referendum

LEWISTON--Leaders of New Hampshire's forest-products industry and at least one conservation group fear Maine loggers will set their sights on the Granite State's woods if Maine's clearcutting ban is approved. Opponents of the Maine ban also say they will do what they can to help defeat the November referendum proposal because of the negative impact it would have in New Hampshire. "It's frustrating here because the referendum will have a tremendous impact on New Hampshire, but we have no vote," said Eric Kingsley, president of the New Hampshire Timberland Association. Kingsley and others fear that loggers now working in the Maine woods would try to persuade New Hampshire landowners to sell timberland. They also say wood prices would rise and force some New Hampshire companies out of business.

Clearcut talks progress

PORTLAND--Negotiations aimed at resolving differences over forest cutting in Maine are making some progress, but no one knows whether an agreement to replace a proposed clearcutting ban will be reached. If no alternative is enacted by November, mainstream environmental groups could throw their support behind the referendum proposal. Forest landowners and several environmental groups have been meeting privately since January to develop an alternative plan to tighten logging standards without imposing an all-out clearcutting ban. Representatives from both sides say they have found common ground on several touchy issues and should know by July whether they can agree to an alternative.

Logging could cost Kentucky tourism

PIKEVILLE, Ky.--An environmental group says tourists won't come to see Kentucky's forests for the lack of trees. Increasing timber harvesting to achieve desired wood-industry revenues would mean a loss of about $5 billion -- and 91,000 jobs -- from tourism, Kentucky's third-largest industry, according to a study by Appalachia-Science in the Public Interest. Combining that with projections that 70 percent of tourism will be based on natural and cultural resources, study author David Cole said the increased harvesting spells disaster for Kentucky's $7.1 billion tourist trade. "There is a lot of truth in the timber industry's slogan, 'Trees Grow Jobs,'" wrote Cole. "However, many of those jobs lie outside the wood-products industry. Exploitative logging is threatening to destroy more jobs than it is creating." But a wood-industry representative said Cole's conclusions are based on wild assumptions and had comparisons. Cole based the study on statements by industry representatives who would like to see Kentucky's wood-products revenues increase from the current level of $1.8 billion to $3 billion a year. He said that would entail an annual harvest of 1.4 billion board-feet. In 1994, about 900 million board-feet were cut in Kentucky.

Man gets probation for shooting ATM

PORTLAND--A man got four years' probation for shooting an automated teller machine because it wouldn't give him cash. Domenico Germano, 32, was also ordered to pay $5,433.09 in repairs last week. Germano, who had been drinking and using painkillers, pulled a gun and fired four shots at the uncooperative machine in October. He pleaded guilty to reckless conduct with a firearm. Prosecutor Deborah Pope sought 90 days in jail, saying a ricocheting bullet could have killed someone. During Germano's probation, he must get drug and alcohol abuse counseling and is prohibited from using alcohol or guns. He is permitted to use automated cash machines.

From the Bethel Police log:

Man charged for leaving accident scene

On June 1 at 2:19 p.m. Leland Mason, 21, of Gilead was charged with leaving the scene of a personal-injury traffic accident, and with failure to report an accident by the quickest means. The charges stemmed from a three-vehicle accident on Church Street. Mason reportedly fled the scene. His vehicle was later located at his residence and impounded. The accident occurred when Mason struck another vehicle from the rear as it was stopped on Church Street. The impact forced the lead vehicle into the path of a third vehicle pulling out of Winter Street. The driver of the vehicle struck from the rear was Amy Bennett, 23, of Dallas, Texas. She and an occupant, Margie Taylor, 75, received a broken nose and neck injury, respectively. They refused medical treatment. The driver of the third vehicle was Julia Dana, 19, of Scarborough. No other injuries were reported.

Wednesday, May 29

At 4:55 p.m. Katherine D. Westleigh, 48, was observed getting into a vehicle on Main Street. She was known to be on the last wanted sheet. After confirming the warrant for OUI--failure to pay fines with Oxford County Dispatch, the officer stopped her and placed her in custody.

Friday, May 31

At 3:19 a.m. police responded to a Tyler Street residence for a report of a domestic fight in progress. The officer spoke with all parties involved and placed Michael Small, 32, under arrest for domestic assault.

At 10:30 a.m. on June 1 (at the same residence) a Tyler Street resident reported her ex-husband had assaulted her at her residence. He apparently was upset because the woman's current boyfriend had allegedly assaulted the son of the complainant and her ex-husband. She was given a statement form to complete.

Saturday, June 1

At 1:21 a.m. a subject was stopped for very erratic operation on Vernon Street. He failed several field sobriety tests. Romeo J. Orino, 47, of Bethel was then arrested for OUI.

Monday, June 3

At 1:30 p.m. police were requested to assist at a construction accident at the Big Apple on Railroad Street. Cory Bussiere, 23, of Auburn severed the index finger and nearly severed the little finger of his left hand with a skill saw. He was transported to Stephens Memorial Hospital in South Paris by Bethel Rescue.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies. An answering machine takes calls when an officer is not in the office.

posted at the Bethel Town Office window, and the bulletin boards at Preb's Pharmacy and the Bethel Foodliner.

This year NTL and the Bethel Area Task Force are planning several activities to celebrate the long history shared between NTL and the town.

The summer season begins with a lawn party on June 11, from 3:30 to 5:30 at the NTL Founders House (Gehring House). Townspeople are invited.

As part of the celebration, the task force is collecting letters from individuals who have participated in some NTL-sponsored activity and are willing to write briefly about their experience.

This could include participation in a Human Interaction lab or any other lab, sunrise seminars, focus groups preparing for the Community Conference, the conferences themselves, housing and/or feeding NTL participants, etc.

The collected letters will be bound together and presented to the Bethel Historical Society. Interested individuals or groups may send their letters to Kathi Schandeleier or Jaki Wiese, c/o NTL Institute, P.O. Box 359, Bethel 04217.

A $500,000 Farmers Home Administration grant and $296,500 in borrowed money will also go toward the project.

The district is also dealing with a complaint, filed by several people, that it is taking in money it doesn't currently need. The money from the increased rates has been going into an escrow account since April 1, until the complaint is resolved.

This past winter the Water District looked at another option -- the five-acre Berry property just north of Andover village. Directors had a $45,000 dollar purchase and sale agreement on that land.

But the Fox property, just outside the center of town, has the advantage of being closer to the users, requiring that less pipe be laid. It is also closer to an electrical source, and would not require the construction of special access roads.

If the Fox option does not work out, the PUC wanted district members to vote to see if land owned by Susan Ricker should be taken by eminent domain, according to director Roger Mills.

The district had an initial agreement to purchase Ricker's land several years ago, but it fell through. That property is near Fox's.

There wasn't much interest in going the eminent domain route at own wells. "Every time I look the drill moves somewhere else," he said.

Mills said seven customers have had their own wells installed recently. The loss of revenue would have to be borne by the remaining customers.

Mills urged the meeting attendees to "stand by the district. The well-

"The cost (to SAD44) of putting in a well would be prohibitive. The (school) district would see it as an excuse to close the school," he said.

Another concern was the possibility the town might remove its fire hydrants from the system and find another source of water. Emerson said the new system plan could be downscaled to compensate for water to cool its air compressors, but would cut back on that when asked.

Emerson urged the voters to focus on priorities.

"We can talk about where the water goes and what it goes for later. Right now the priority is to get the project on line and keep the district together," he said.

The members also voted to hold a special meeting if the Fox option falls through. Mills said directors will likely be in touch with Fox again within a week.

The voters also mandated that the directors go with the least expensive engineering option proposed after a site is chosen. Both A.L. Hodsdon and Wright-Pierce engineering firms have been involved so far.

Members also elected Anne Glazier as a director, replacing Bartlett. He had served for one year.

FROM THE
Bethel Library

Attention gardeners! Don't forget the Bethel Library's Perennial Plant Sale, this Saturday, June 8, from 9 a.m. to noon, at the Bethel Fire Station. Dozens of area gardeners have donated perennials from their gardens. This is a wonderful chance to buy hardy, reasonably priced plants, and to support the library at the same time.

Thanks to Sally Taylor, Linda Gamble and Suzanne Taylor for donations of audio tapes. This section of the library's collection is growing, and audio tapes are increasingly popular with commuters and travelers. The four shelves of books on tape, music tapes and language tapes are now located beyond the stairwell, in the back room of the first floor.

Plans are in the works for the Summer Reading Program, and for the first time, there will be a Middle School Program. Details will be available soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swan spent 10 days of May fishing and sightseeing in Juneau, Alaska. They caught four King Salmon, the largest weighing in at 30 pounds. The following was read in a Juneau newspaper: "Nash Wight took a break from filming his new movie 'The Man at the Edge of the World' on the coast of Maine to go fishing. But the fish was where a heavy operator on TV just green around the gills as he was forced to let his catch for a while and lost his lunch. Since when is Andover on the coast of Maine?"

There are some graduation anniversaries in the Jodrey family this year. Marlene graduated 60 years ago in 1936. Theodore Amos Purcell graduated in 1956. Merilee Ann Thurston graduated in 1966 and Kerrie Thurston will graduate with the class of 1996.

Kerrie has it that the local fishing trip rewarded a few last weekend.

The trees are now at a beautiful stage of growth.

Although I seldom like the wind, it more or less influences sounds in the trees. It has a water-like flow, as it blows through. The widest sweep is in the top or arc. The mountain winds, like the rain, snow or sunshine are bestowed with love on the forests and those develop their strength and beauty. Wind is universal. It touches the lowest, fingering the leaves and branches. Not one is forgotten. They are caressed tenderly or exercised by bending. Leaves or limbs are plucked, as required. Severe storms bend them like grasses, or a giant single can crash down and shake the hills. At times, it seems strange that any can remain standing.

I have seen them after a storm, when the setting sun filled them with amber light, and they seemed to say, while they listened, "My peace I give unto you."

Mary Holt celebrated her 13th birthday on Sunday at her grandparents. She received nice presents and a lovely cherry cake made by her grandmother. We helped her take care of that.

I have had several callers recently. Mr. and Mrs. Rudi Honkala; Rena, Marie and Kathy Curtis and Mary, Sally and David Holt.

Milton and Eleanor Inman are home again after a few days of camping.

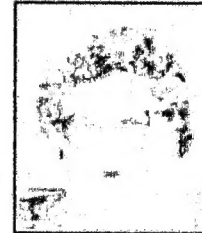

Ann Holt had a long drive to Aroostook county last week.

Marie and Rena Curtis took me to the cemetery in Poland on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Avery of Barnstead, N.H., came to visit relatives last week and called to see me. I was pleased to see them after several years.

Rena Curtis and other members of the family were in Dover and Brunswick on Memorial Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Herrick, baby grandson and Wendy Herrick called on Frances Grant on Sunday, May 26.

Four members of the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War 1861-1865, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 attended church together on Sunday and held a memorial program at the plaque on the front lawn to remember and honor veterans. Afterward, they went to Hillside Cemetery to Civil War Veteran Henry Parker's grave to hold a memorial service. They stopped at the Mill Pond to remember those who served at sea. The Stoneham Volunteer Fire Department and Stoneham Rescue escorted the group through town. Thanks to Arthur Gouin for helping out and thanks to all who attended the Memorial services. Hopefully more people will be there next year to honor the veterans who served our country. Refreshments of sandwiches, cold drinks and ice cream cones were served at the church vestry.

Gladys Kilgore is at Norway Convalescent Home in Norway. Albert and Eleanor Nelson visited her Wednesday morning. They also saw Mike Cummings of Albany and Verna Swan of Bryant Pond. Everyone seems to be on the mend and getting along well.

Don't forget the first public church supper is on June 6.

On Tuesday evening, Troy and Eleanor Nelson called on Josephine and Roland McAllister in South Paris and had a nice visit.

Christine Nelson and Jeannie and Bradley Nelson and family of Winslow were in town over the weekend, and while here they called on Gladys Kilgore at the Norway Convalescent Home.

The Stoneham Church Thrift and Bake Sale went over real good on Saturday. This is open every Saturday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Come on in. We have lots of nice things.

Dwight and Mary Grover went to Boothbay to the home of Peggy and L.J. Pinkham and family. This was like a family reunion and they had a lot of nice visiting with members of the family that they don't see very often.

On April 26, the Grand Chief of the Pythian Sisters of Maine, Arlene Merrill, presented a check for $5,249 to the "Make A Wish" foundation. The money was raised by selling chances on a doll house by Clare Bell Brass Works (donated by Sue and Dana Greggson), and from a benefit dinner put on by Cumberland Temple 87, donations from Temples, plus many, many others. A fifty-fifty was held at the Stoneham Fireman's Booster Supper and $81 was taken in. Kevin Barker won and bless his heart, said, "keep it for the project."

Dorothy McGray is now the Grand Chief of Maine. Her project is donated to AIDS research. Let's all help her. This meeting and presentation was held at the Ramada Inn in Portland.

We did get a frost and some people lost their plants.

Good news, the new Country Way Restaurant will be opened June 10. This is on the space of the former Goldstreet Restaurant. This is where the Norway High School reunion will be in July.

We hope to see all of you Stoneham residents at the voting booths on June 11. Don't forget. The Rescue Service Memorial Day breakfast was a great success as usual.

Happy June!
Time to dig out your sandals and try on that bathing suit. I don't know about you, but this girl has a Casper like pigment. Pretty scary. Come on sun!

What's happening around here? Well, Jerry's folks and brother Grant came here for some R and R. I guess they heard the fishing is good. Reports of turkey in the area. Harry Monster, the big, blue creature from Sesame Street, paid a visit to Matthew on Friday. I heard Harry escaped shortly afterwards, and was last seen running up Backstreet looking for his mother.

Did you know that the word Moose means "twig eater" in the Algonquin Indian language? This trivia was obtained from Bill Silliker Jr.'s book entitled "Maine Moose Watching Guide." How many twigs does a twig eater eat? About 50 pounds a day. Stop moosin' around and call me. I'd love to hear your trivia.

North Woodstock

by Shane Billings
Hi, I'm Shane Billings, and I used to write the North Woodstock news. This summer, my sister Bridget and I will once again be bringing you the news from our little town. If anyone has something to report, please contact us anytime.

The family of Emma Billings held a memorial service to commemorate her passing, with Roland Lord presiding. Following the service was a cookout at Sue and Tony Silver's home with lots of food and Alan Chapman's famous steak. Sarah Chapman Williams and her husband Jeff were home for a few days, and everyone enjoyed the chance to visit with them during the cookout. The cookout also doubled as a party for Bryan Gray, who turned two years old this past week.

Kelly Rosenberg and Bridget Billings participated in a track meet on Thursday and will travel to Mountain Valley High School for the Sandy Andy tournament.

Mandy McInnis is spending the summer in Hamilton, Mass., working as a nanny. I got the chance to talk with her a few times before she departed, and she had a very good year at Gordon College.

I went to see the movie "Last Dance" on Tuesday with Lisa Haines and Laura Seames. We also went to the Auburn Mall and had dinner at Papa Gino's.

I just finished watching "Roseanne," one of the best shows on the air. I hope everyone watches next season, because it will be the last for this series. It surprises me that so many people don't like "Roseanne" anymore, but the good things never seem to be appreciated.

Goodbye from North Woodstock.

West Paris

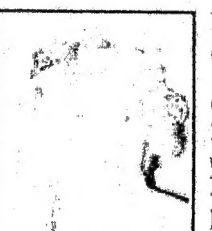

by Miriam Inman
Cathedral Pines in Stratton/Eustis was the site for many campers on Memorial weekend. From West Paris were Vince and Beverly Stevens; Albert Jr. and Charmaine Penley and Doug; Heather Brown; Vance and Connie Bacon; Carmen Hadley and Eldith Lang; Joe and Peg Perham; Vernon and Miriam Inman; Vernie and Waltie. From South Woodstock were Byron and Mary Inman and from Greenwood, Milton and Eleanor Inman. On Sunday night, 10 of us had supper at the White Wolfe Restaurant. Carmen's birthday was going to be the next day, so the waitress came singing Happy Birthday with a birthday cake which was an "Earthquake Cake." It was sinfully chocolatey rich, but very good.

Mrs. Lillian Latno of Old Orchard spent the weekend with her son Gary, his wife Lisa, Ben and Roman. A birthday party was held for Ben's 9th birthday.

On Tuesday, June 11, the E.B. Forbes Goodwill Group will gather at 10:30 a.m. at the Day Farm on Curtis Hill. The hostess will be Lettie Brooks, assisted by Leone Penley. After lunch, Pokeno will be played.

North Newry

by Gil Seeley
On Sunday, May 26, there was a ceremony at the Newry Municipal building with

Wendy Hanscom welcoming everyone. Invocation and prayers were said by Pastor Rodney Hanscom, Gregory Fraser, and speaker Delma McMillin. Members of the Jackson-Silver American Legion Post of Locke Mills, the Mundt-Allen American Legion Post of Bethel and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post formed a color guard and firing squad to salute the war dead and veterans. Taps was played and flowers were placed on the town memorial by Sylvia Wight. Refreshments were served in the building prior to and after the ceremonies.

Newry Community Church services were held on Sunday with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. The message of the day was: "The Comforter Comes," from Acts 2:21, "And it shall come to pass, that whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord, shall be saved." And a special was given by Gil Seeley. In memory of the soldiers who died on the battle field.

The Newry Mothers Club members are reminded to meet at the Town & Country Inn on Monday, June 10, at 6:30 p.m. Bring a friend if you wish.

Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley and guest Rena Powers were at the Oxford Hills Bowling Lanes in South Paris one day last week. Karlene was high on the singles and triples, beating Betsy by two pins on the triples and beating Gil by nine pins. She had two spares, Gil also had two spares. All went to lunch and did some shopping.

Louise Tetley was taken to the Norway Hospital on Monday, with a possible heart attack, and was put in intensive care for 24 hours. Her husband Norman took her home on Thursday, and Louise is now taking it easy and resting. We wish her a fast recovery.

Happy Birthday to Michael Wight on May 27.

It's Storyland time again! This year's trip will take place Monday, June 17, with the rain date set for June 18. Anyone who is interested in spending a fun-filled day at Storyland should let the Newry Recreation Committee know by June 10. You can call Nancy Bahcock (824-2215) or Marci Baker (824-2213). Passes will be handed out to all Newry kids ages four and over. Meeting time is 9 a.m. at the front gate. Sign up now!

Attention campers! Don't forget to get your letters in to win a $50 scholarship to the camp of your choice!

Upcoming Newry Recreation Committee sponsored events will be Community Day on Sunday, June 23 and the Junior Maine Guides Trip on July 1, 2 and 3.

Family and friends of the late Mrs. Connie Hindman gathered at the Songo Cemetery on Sunday afternoon for her committal service conducted by Rev. Henry Nickerson of the Methodist Church in Bethel. Her only sister, Mrs. Marjorie Awall of Augusta, recalled many fitting memories, as did several others.

Attending from out of town were sons John and wife of New Hampshire; Lee and wife of South China; Mark Hindman of Bethel; her daughter, Mrs. Rachel Buchanan and husband Tim from N.C.

The weather was fine for a change, but the little black flies were a pest.

All were glad afterwards to renew friendships and partake of hospitality and refreshments at the home of her mother, Mrs. Elmira Doyen, assisted by Mrs. Winona Verrill of South Paris.

Important, there will be a meeting of the Willing Workers on Wednesday, June 5, at 6:30 p.m. at the Union Church. The future of the Willing Workers Organization will be discussed at this meeting. Please plan to attend. Anyone who is not currently a member is also urged to attend, if interested.

Two high school graduates I missed last week are Karen Gray and Elaine Brochu. Congratulations, girls! Much luck in the future.

There will be an open house on June 15, from 1 to 4 p.m. to celebrate the 25th anniversary of Phil and Terry Merrill. It will be at their home at 217 Pioneer Street in West Paris. Everyone is welcome.

The Mack girls' dog Simba, loved by all who knew him, got run over the other day. The girls and school children, where he visited often, are real upset and he will be greatly missed.

Richard and Luba Green are the proud parents of a baby boy, Zachary Paul. Jeffrey Adam Tuell and Erica Lynn Mason were married on May 18 at St. Mark's Church in Kittery. A reception followed the ceremony. Jeffrey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hill and Gilda Hill, and the grandson of Gilman Tuell and the late Olive Tuell. Erica is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mason. Many from South Woodstock, West Paris and several states and other towns attended the occasion. Jeffrey and Erica will be living in Kittery.

Larry Billings, Curator of the Woodstock Historical Society, reports that Francis Brooks gave an old receipt to the museum. The society's museum is a fascinating place to visit on Saturdays this summer. Mr. Billings arranges the displays.

I attended the concert at Oxford Hills last Thursday night. It is the last concert my granddaughter, Sarah Hart, will be in, as she is graduating this year. A lot of the concert was dedicated to the senior class who have been in the choir during their school years.

Howdy friends, according to the calendar, this has been Memorial Day and what a nice day it has been. It has been good weather for all of the parades and other Memorial activities, and I'm sure everybody has appreciated that. We were invited to the home of Loretta and Emerson Merrill for dinner and a visit, but left for home about 4:30 p.m. as Loretta said there would be no supper there.

There will be a public supper and dance at West Paris Grange Hall on June 8, to benefit Tri Town Ambulance. The supper will consist of turkey and all the fixings. Tickets will be $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under 12. The dance starts at 8 p.m. with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra. The price for the dance is the usual $4. Helping Tri Town Rescue is a very worthy cause. We are very fortunate to have such a service available to help us. Believe me, I know.

The Woodstock High School Alumni Banquet and meeting will be held at the Locke Mills American Legion Hall, on the Gore Road, at 6 p.m. on June 8. We hope to see a great turnout of Woodstock Alumni. Our school has gone, but many pleasant memories remain.

We had a surprise visitor last Monday forenoon. Richard Vittum, who graduated from Woodstock High School in 1941, the same year as I, had come to a West Paris Cemetery and decided he'd call. He lives near Newport. We were very pleased to have him call on us.

We attended the Children's Night at Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond. There were very few children present, but we enjoyed the program. Darin Tripp, Deputy Sheriff, was present and explained about teaching the DARE program.

Peggy's daughter Kaye and her husband called on us for a few minutes on Tuesday morning before returning to their home.

Mary Lovejoy and two daughters, Faith and Hope, a niece Jennifer Haverinen and Clarabelle Holden have just returned from touring Colonial Williamsburg, Busch Gardens and other places of interest last week. They were fortunate to have nice weather and all enjoyed the tour very much.

Mary Lovejoy took Impi and Raymond Mack to Dover, South Mills and Sebec on Sunday, to visit some of the cemeteries there.

Plans await, memories linger, as retirees move on

Caroline Gould
First-grade teacher Caroline Gould is spending the last week of her 37th year of teaching helping her CPS kids do a "memory book" for first grade.

It's a compilation of student stories, pictures and other activities from the past year.

Gould has collected plenty of her own memories over three and a half decades. Some of the students in those memories are still part of her life today.

For instance, she had three of the four Crescent Park custodians in school. At last spring's CPS concert, principal David Murphy asked anyone in the audience who had Gould as a teacher to stand. Dozens of people rose from their seats.

Gould has seen teaching change over the years. "We have to do a lot more parenting than before," she said. "Some of the children come to school with so much on their minds" -- such as problems at home.

Then there's the technology revolution. "I've done all I can and tried to keep up with the new stuff," she said. "I've gone from mimeograph machines to copy machines to computers."

Gould's future includes babysitting her granddaughter, spending time with her husband, cross-stitching and "reading books I haven't read all these years," she said, even though she expects to be busy. "I'll miss the children and the people I worked with," she said.

Beverly Melville
Twenty-year veteran Beverly Melville, a Telstar High School English teacher, had her last formal class Friday. She's spending this week helping the seniors prepare for graduation.

Melville spent her final teaching days doing research topics for her students and this week, a sample poem is written in class, such as "Up and Running" and the "Bells."

"I'm excited to see the kids go on to the next level," she said.

Road Around the Bend began and during the ride to England. The "poem" refers to the scenic views and times put in their pockets to keep the memory of that day as possible, as always, she said.

"I'm not sad, but it is a sad part of the day," she said. "They make them for about a week before they leave. They're beautiful, but I know they'll be missed."

has always been Shakespeare. "I just enjoy it so much. I could teach it from morning to night," she said.

She's always started her classes out slowly on Shakespearean plays, so they can get used to the difficult language.

"Julius Caesar" has a relatively simple structure, she said. "We listen to tapes of the play done by professionals. Then they read the parts. They have trouble at first, but then they get much better," she said.

She likes Shakespeare because "he's so typically true to life. He writes about human traits that don't change over time. They apply today as much as they did almost 400 years ago," she said.

She'll miss teaching. "This is my home," she said.

But she has other plans, including traveling, weaving and spinning, and like Caroline Gould, "I have lots of books piled up I never seem to get to," she said. "It's not what I'll do (that's in question) -- it's what I'll do first."

Arlene Bean
Bus driver Arlene Bean retired this winter after driving for 24 and a half years.

"I still get up at five in the morning," she said -- but now she doesn't have to rush off to her bus. She has more time to spend with her grandchildren and great-grandchildren, the most recent of whom arrived last week. She's also doing more quilting and sewing.

It wasn't easy leaving her bus children, though. "The first month I missed them awful," she said.

Bean says the morning greeting from a driver to a child starts the student's day off on the right foot.

"The children look for that smile and that good morning," she said.

Erland Scribner
Erland Scribner also sees the bus driver's role as more than getting the kids to and from school safely.

"You have to make the children feel they're important," he said.

That has included talking to the kids about school tests, and encouraging them to go into sports.

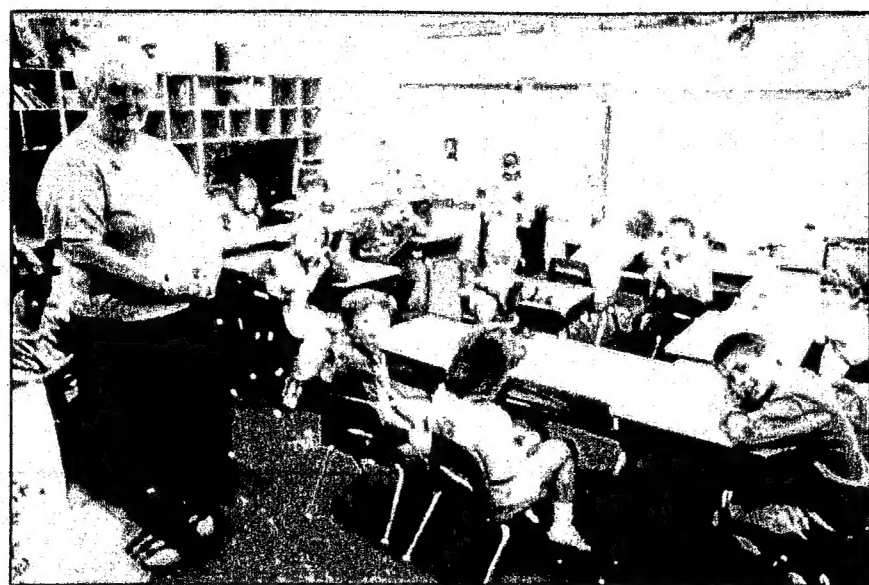

Scribner came to bus driving after 20 years in the army, as well as being a halfway house manager and later a carrier for the Postal Service.

I thought being a school bus driver would be a great-minded thing to do," he said.

As for the future, Scribner plans to spend the summer in a camper by the lake and then make take off for Florida or Arizona in the camper.

He'll still be thinking of the kids and driving a bus, though.

"I'm absolutely going to miss it," he said.

THE FINAL BELL, THE LAST STOP--Two teachers and two bus drivers are retiring from long-time service to SAD44. Top, teacher Caroline Gould of Crescent Park Elementary School and her last class of first-graders. Middle, Bev Melville, Telstar High School English teacher with a Children's Literature class. Bottom, bus drivers Arlene Bean and Erland Scribner with plaques presented to them by the SAD44 School Board.

motioned to table the matter until more information could be obtained. Ruth Grover seconded Thurston's motion and voted with him in favor of it. But Bob Chadbourne and Rick Whitney opposed the motion, and by a vote of 2-2 it failed to carry. (The fifth selectman, Dutch Dresser, did not attend Monday's meeting.)

The second vote was a mirror image of the first. Rick Whitney motioned to reject the proposal as unsuitable for the site. Chadbourne seconded, then voted with Whitney in favor. Thurston and Grover opposed the motion, and it also failed to carry.

The board then moved onto other matters, but at the end of the meeting Chadbourne raised the issue again, arguing Thurston and Grover to reconsider their votes.

"We're setting ourselves up for a series of meetings," Chadbourne said. He argued that "enthusiastic river people" would press the issue and "We'd end up in a position of having a public hearing and end up with a site that's not suitable."

After a brief discussion and some silence, Grover reversed her earlier position and motioned to reject the ramp proposal. Her motion carried 3-1 with Thurston still in opposition.

Davis agrees two don't mix. Dan Davis, who donated the Davis Park parcel to the town, said Tuesday he had originally thought the land "would be a good landing spot for small boats," but he had not put any restrictions on its use.

"I told them they could do with it what they wanted," he said. Now that the playground is located there, he said, a landing is not a good idea. "The two definitely don't mix," he said.

The proposal

The ramp offer came from the Bethel Area Trails Coalition, an informal group of local trails supporters who have been meeting for more than a year to plan for and encourage the development of trail-based recreational opportunities in the area.

The ramp was to have been built with state money and local expertise and labor. The formal proposal read as follows:

"The Bethel Area Trails Coalition will undertake working with Richard Skinner, at the Bureau of Parks and Lands, to engineer and build a boat access to the Androscoggin River and undertake the ramp upkeep and maintenance for one year, at which time the Town of Bethel will assume the maintenance costs and upkeep. The Coalition feels that maintenance and upkeep costs would be very minimal, but will continue to work and communicate with the town of Bethel to maintain the boat ramp."

no means required) to dress in historical costumes.

The canoe trek has been organized by the Maine Department of Environmental Protection and the Appalachian Mountain Club, with the assistance of numerous local groups and businesses along the river.

The public is encouraged to join for a segment, however short, of the trip and to take part in the associated activities.

The local itinerary is described below. It includes telephone numbers to call for more information about participating.

Half-price canoe rentals are also available for the day. For information, call Jeff Parsons at 836-3607.

FROM THE

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce would like to welcome our newest member, The Mahosuc Arts Council.

Many thanks to Bethel Bagel & Deli for the wonderful After Hours on Monday at their Main Street business.

The chamber was a host to 30 tour operators from all over the country on Friday evening and Saturday. Executive Director Robin Zinchuk met them at the Songo River Queen in Naples and toured them north to Bethel via Routes 35 and 5. The Summit Hotel lodged the group, the Sunday River Brewing Company provided a lovely reception and the Bethel Inn provided a fantastic dinner. Saturday morning the Sudbury Inn hosted a delicious breakfast before the group had a tour of the Moses Mason House, Bethel Outdoor Adventures helped with the tour up Route 2 and 26 to Grafton Notch State Park and then back to the Artist's Covered Bridge.

From the Bethel Bicentennial Committee

By JIM ROSE

N.T.L. will open for the summer season with a lawn party on Tuesday, June 11, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the Gehring House. All community members are invited to partake in an afternoon of history, discussion and refreshments as N.T.L. will highlight its contributions to Bethel's recent past.

The Barn Dance Committee is still seeking a chair to head the July 27 barn dance effort. Any interested parties may contact Sally Taylor at 824-3170.

A volunteer is also being sought to perform an "Agricultural Survey" for comparative purposes with past generations. We would be interested to know the current number of barns in Bethel, the number of acres of field and crop land, the number of cows, and other such information to have a "snapshot" of how we look now, compared to past surveys. Stanley Howe (824-2908) will be pleased to provide more information.

The Children's Bicycle Parade has been changed from June 15 to the Fourth of July. Taking its place on June 15 will be the St. Jude's Children's Hospital Bike-a-Thon from 8 to 9:30 a.m.

A last reminder of the Bicentennial Canoe Flotilla on Saturday, June 8. Participants will put in at the Route 2 bridge in Mayville and will take out at Rumford Corner. Those interested may contact Jack and Lucy Nordahl at 824-2863.

There are currently two raffles in progress to benefit the bicentennial committee's scheduled events. The painting of the Jonathan Clark Homestead, by Helen Morton, is being offered at $1 per ticket, or six tickets for $5. Also offered is a $500 gift certificate to Western Maine Supply. Tickets for this raffle are $10 and are available at Western Maine Supply and from most bicentennial committee members.

T-shirts, sweatshirts, wooden tops, buttons, barn posters, commemorative coins and calendars are available at many local merchants. The sale of these items solely benefits the bicentennial effort. When thinking of a giant parade with fireworks during the August Bicentennial Weekend, please remember that it depends greatly upon these fundraising items.

ASK A LAWYER

Next month my lawn will be sprayed by a professional landscaper to prevent weeds. Warning signs are inserted into the ground about keeping pets and children off the grass because of possible dangers associated with the chemicals. If someone's pet or child ignores the signs and does become sick because of the chemicals, can they hold anybody liable? If so, who would be liable, me or the landscaper?

Owners and occupiers of land have very limited obligations toward trespassers, but their liability increases as the right of the injured party to be on the land or the foreseeability of trespass or the degree of danger increases. Dangers on your front walk are more likely to create liability than dangers in your backyard.

Children have special protection, because of their general inability to appreciate risks that would be apparent to adults. The decisions are very fast-specific and revolve around the inability of the landowner to foresee that children would trespass and the degree of the potential danger. If children routinely cross your yard or something on your land is attractive to children, you are at greater risk. People who live next to schools or playgrounds have greater risk than people who live in the country, because one can anticipate that children may trespass. The greater the risk posed by chemicals, pesticides or other potential danger, the more the landowner will be expected to take steps to prevent the harm. Not Exhibit-goers viewed work by young area artists of the Explorations Art Program on May 25. every potential danger will create liability -- the landowner must have some knowledge (or ability to foresee) an unreasonable danger, but the standard for what is "unreasonable" will be lower for children than adults, and lower still for very young children.

The last part of the question asks whether the landowner or pesticide applicator will be liable. The short answer is, both may be liable, depending upon the nature of the risk and the knowledge of the parties involved. Most landscapers will provide you with a great deal of information about the possible risks associated with the chemicals they use in order to avoid liability toward you. If you are fully informed, consent to the application and someone is hurt, both of you are likely to be sued. Your homeowners policy may provide you with some protection. You would be well advised to consult with your insurer to determine its recommendations and your coverage.

GES

Explodes
Lose Lives

outh of Route 2 and west of oute 26. Any persons knowing of parts lost before the rash are asked to call Bethel
Andyke 4-2608.

Fragments of wreckage have been reported found as far as Ananavon and Rumford Corner lanages, and it is known that one of the early arrivals on the crash site took parts as "souvenirs" which could well be of importance in determining the cause of the disaster.
It is to be hoped that the Board will have the full co-operation of all in this vital task. Several helicopters have been used in the search.

The light of the explosion and the fire were noticed at points as far away as Lewiston, Bridg-ton and Berlin, while the accompanying sound of the blast was heard for miles in this vicinity. The emergency alarm was sounded immediately in Bethel. The crash scene is on Jonathan Smith Mountain, in the area known as "Jonny's Ledge," and is not far from the homes of Bernard and Warren Powers on Route 26. The burned over area of about two acres where the plane fell is within sight of the road at Middle Intervale and near Newry Corner as well for some distance on the Newry-Upton road.

CARL R. NOWLIN

Carl R. Nowlin, 79, of Sunday River, Newry, died Sunday, June 2, 1996, at CMMC in Lewiston, after a courageous battle with cancer.

He was born Dec. 31, 1916, in Newry, son of John A. and Mina E. Nowlin. He attended school in Sunday River.

Carl was a U.S. Army veteran of W.W. II. He was a member of the 3rd Armored Division under Patton, serving in North Africa and the European Theater.

He worked at various jobs after the war and retired in 1980 from P.H. Chadbourne Co. after 20 years.

He enjoyed music, children, animals and riding his bicycle.

Carl was a lifelong bachelor and is survived by three brothers: John M. and Clyde S., both of Newry; Kenneth B. of Harrison; seven sisters, Eva Lane and Florence Morgan of Bethel; Barbara Casey of Mexico; Lottie Knowles of Dixfield; Grace Bartlett of Bridgton; Rena Powers of Hebron and Marjorie A. Nowlin with whom he made his home. Also surviving are 43 nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by a brother, Raymond and a sister, Edna.

Funeral services will be held at 2
